

Earth Days Week 2016 at Salem State University

Why Pricing Carbon is Good for Your Health

Putting a price on carbon emissions is the next step in climate leadership for Massachusetts

Come hear from a panel of climate and health experts on how pricing carbon emissions will tackle climate change, reduce air pollution, and grow our local economy.

Come learn about ways you can get involved!
Pizza and cookies will be provided

12:30 pm on Monday, April 11, 2016

Martin Luther King, Jr. Room in the Ellison Campus Center located in front of the Alumni Plaza North Campus

Richard Clapp is a Professor Emeritus of Environmental Health, Boston University School of Public Health and Adjunct Professor at U. of Mass. Lowell. Professor Clapp is an epidemiologist with over forty years of experience in public health practice, research, teaching and consulting. He is with the Greater Boston Physicians for Social Responsibility.

Cindy Luppi is the coordinator for the MA Campaign for a Clean Energy Future, a national effort dedicated to replacing toxic chemicals in personal care products with safer alternatives. Cindy is also the New England Director of Clean Water Action.

David Radue leads the North Shore chapter of Citizens' Climate Lobby (CCL). CCL is a nonpartisan, grassroots, nonprofit organization advocating for national and state carbon pricing legislation. In Massachusetts, CCL is active in the Campaign for a Clean Energy Future.

For further information about Earth Days Week, please view our website: www.salemstate.edu/earthday and/or contact Prof. John Hayes, co-chair of the SSU Earth Day Planning Committee at 978-542-6922 or jthayes1212@gmail.com

Campaignforcleanenergyfuture.org
Facebook: MACleanEnergyFuture
Twitter: @macleanenergy